

Call for Papers!

We are delighted to announce that the fourth Spring Campus Conference of the University Alliance for Sustainability will take place from April 1-5, 2019 at Freie Universität Berlin. The Spring Campus will be on the topic: Re:search. Re:act. Re:design. 'The Future is Now: Driving Sustainable Development'. We will focus on three key topics: Energy, Food and Mobility. We are happy to announce that Prof. Johan Rockström (designated Director, Potsdam Institute of Climate Impact Research) and Prof. Kathryn Harrison (University of British Columbia) already confirmed to open the conference as keynote speakers. Further information is available here: https://www.fu-berlin.de/en/sites/spring-campus/03\_Program/index.html

We will offer two different workshops and both will be open for UNA participants:

- PhD Workshop: “Sustainable Development Research – an Interdisciplinary Chance or Challenge?” chaired by Prof. Brigitta Schütt (FU Berlin), Prof. Pascal Borry (KU Leuven), Prof. Piotr Szewdo (Jagiellonian University) (Call for Contributions)
- PhD Workshop: “Environmental Politics” chaired by Prof. Itay Fishhendler (Hebrew University), Prof. Kathryn Harrison (University of British Columbia) (Call for Contributions)

PhD students are invited to participate in the overall conference and research workshops offered from April 1-3 as well as one of the PhD workshops from April 4-5.

Freie Universität will cover the participation fees and catering costs throughout the event. UNA member universities are expected to cover the costs for travel and accommodation.

Please send to the required documents and provide the average grade of the current year of studies, or in case you do not have such, from the last degree you have been awarded.

The documents can be send by e-mail to carlos.panek@uj.edu.pl and the average grade should be handed personally to:
